Church donation

CHRISTCHURCH
Spiritualist Centre has donated hundreds of pounds to two local organisations after a year of fundraising efforts.

Members of the Barrack Road centre split the £680 they had raised between Macmillan Caring Locally and Bournemouth Churches Housing Association. The money was raised from a number of events including monthly and special event raffles, entertainment evenings and open mornings which are held quarterly. The donation to Macmillan Caring Locally, which is based at Christchurch Hospital, is set to go to their Brick by Brick appeal.

Geraldine Staples from specialist end of life care charity visited the centre and told members about the work she does to support others.

Later the same day, Paul Tucker from BCHA shared details about some of the association's work.
