Single release helps domestic abuse victims

A 16-year-old singer's charity event and single release has raised £1,000 for the Bournemouth Women's Refuge. Nicole McNally wrote, recorded and released the track entitled 'Annabelle', which is about a woman trying to escape domestic abuse. She organised a special music event to launch the single and managed to persuade 16 artists to perform for free and help raise more money for the refuge run by local housing and support provider BCHA.
